VIEWLINK

QualityProductsThatMakeADifference

The ViewLink™ system allows the user to effectively transfer video images from one location to another via a standard telephone line. Based on a powerful signal processor, the ViewLink™ video transmission system instantaneously digitizes the video or audio signal, compresses it, analyzes it and then transmits the collected information over standard telephone lines.

The transmitter unit is installed on the site to be monitored. A personal computer with viewer software (compatible with Windows® 95) enables the user to view the remote site on his VGA monitor. Using a single telephone line, the ViewLink system enables the user to remotely survey their business, warehouse, company premises or second home.
